Special Events for September . . .

Docent Tour of the Holocaust Museum
and Learning Center

Our meeting on Thursday, September 19 will be in two parts. It will take place at the St. Louis Holocaust Museum and Learning Center in the Jewish Federation Building, 12 Millstone Campus Dr. (the intersection of Schuetz and Guelbreth roads). The first part of the meeting is an Open Board Meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the Theater Room. All JGS members are invited to attend this part of the meeting, as your input to the Board is so important.

The second part of the evening will start at 7:30 p.m. and will include a tour of the museum with a docent. If you have never been to the museum or if you have been through the exhibits but without benefit of a docent, you will want to make sure you don't miss this opportunity.

September Discussion Group

On Thursday, September 26, at 1:00 p.m., the Discussion Group will meet at the Mercantile Library in the Thomas Jefferson Library Building on the campus of the University of Missouri-St. Louis, 8001 Natural Bridge Road. Please park on the third level of the West Drive Garage located on West Drive. If you need more information, call Ilene Wittels at (314) 692-2444 or send her an e-mail to <igwittel@artsci.wustl.edu>.

Special Program Coming
Sunday, December 15
at Temple Emanuel
Watch for further information.

October's Meeting

Guest Speaker:
Cynthia Millar,
St. Louis Public Library
“Using the 1930 Census”

The featured speaker for October will be Cynthia Millar, Genealogy Reference Librarian, from the History and Genealogy Department of the St. Louis Public Library. As you probably know by now, the newly released 1930 Census for the St. Louis metropolitan area is not indexed, so in order to find your relatives, you must know where they lived and then which Enumeration District they were in.

Cynthia will walk us through the process of finding families in this new resource. She will discuss using city directories to find addresses and then using a finding aid created by the library to get the ED's. She will talk about the census and the information you can find on it.

If you haven't yet used the 1930 Census, come learn about how to use it. If you have looked at it and wondered about how to interpret the data you have found, bring your questions. As always, Cynthia will have much to share with us.

October Discussion Group

As we approach the holiday season, many of us are looking at digital cameras as gifts for ourselves or others. On Thursday, October 24, from 1:30 to 3, Doug Bernstein of Creve Coeur Camera will bring a PowerPoint presentation to the Discussion Group and will lead a discussion on digital cameras. He will have professional advice on what to look for when you buy and how to use these valuable genealogical tools.

President's Message

July and August Meetings

We wish again to thank Marge and Herb Bilinsky for their interesting and informative presentation in July on the making of their family video The Locket. Those of us who viewed the program either on PBS or at the July meeting were deeply moved and impressed.

Our thanks, also, to Bette Gorden, Curator of the Herman T. Pott National Inland Waterways Collection at the St. Louis Mercantile Library, who gave us a history of the many places at which the Mercantile Library has been located, a look at some of the outstanding artwork in its possession, and an overview of some of the collections for which the library is famous. We hope that many of you will join us on Thursday, September 26, when the Discussion Group goes to the library. We are fortunate to have this outstanding resource in the St. Louis area, and you just may discover something there that will help you in your research. We would like Bette to know that we are grateful for her donation of the book, St. Louis and the Art of the Frontier, to our JGS library.

August Generations

As you noticed, the August issue of Generations was largely devoted to the newly revised and approved Bylaws and Standing Rules for JGS of St. Louis. Our Bylaws committee worked on this project for months in order to make it a clear and concise statement of our mission, our goals, and the mechanics of running an organization such as ours. We hope all of you took the time to read those pages and have gained a further understanding of the work and time your elected Board spends on your behalf. Our thanks go to Joel Shedlofsky and his committee for their efforts. If you have any questions or comments about the new Bylaws, please feel free to contact Joel or me.

Indexing Projects are Progressing

A great deal of progress has been made in the last two months toward our goals of indexing the Jewish marriages, cemeteries, and funeral home records in the St. Louis area. We now have volunteers to make these projects viable, and recorded data is being entered into our Society's databases. Once the United Hebrew Library renovation has been completed in September, members will be able to access these records on a computer. Please consider volunteering for one of these projects. The more help we receive, the sooner the material will be available to all of us.

Website News

Be sure you check our website (www.jewishgen.org/jgs-St.Louis) often. Joel Shedlofsky, our webmaster, is constantly updating and improving it. He has gathered an impressive amount of information and has designed our web pages with great skill. You will discover many interesting facts and numerous links to other websites, along with current information about our Society. In addition, Gene Schneider has been working overtime getting the cemetery, funeral home, and marriage indexing ready to go online. Thanks to them both, our website is becoming a fabulous resource for St. Louis Jewish genealogy!

I hope everyone has enjoyed the summer. Have a happy new year.

Cassie Weinberg Buerki,

President, JGS of St. Louis

Synopsis Of July Program: The Locket Presented by Marge and Herb Bilinsky By Eunice Solomon

Making a video of one's family is quite doable, according to the Bilinskys. Help is available from a local cable station, which will offer training in the use of their equipment. The film can be put together with photos, a script, and background music.

The story of The Locket was a labor of love. It is dedicated to Marge's Aunt Clara who gave Marge a locket that houses a watch that does not run and has a missing hour hand but is now her most valuable treasure.

Kristallnacht was the turning point for Marge's family in Germany. Her mother's family was sponsored by relatives in Oklahoma and was able to escape the Holocaust. Marge's father's family was not as lucky. All of them perished. Marge considers herself a lucky survivor.

Aunt Clara spent the major part of her money getting her possessions out of Germany. When she finally decided to leave, she did not have enough money to buy her way out. She died in a concentration camp.

Marge wrote the script, produced, and narrated this video. The Locket is devoid of scenes of death and violence. It is filled with stories of those who made it to America, often narrated by the survivors. Marge used a professional videographer and a professional editor. Herb worked alongside her from start to finish.

Whenever Marge conducts a tour of the Holocaust Museum and Learning Center, she wears her locket. She hopes to use this video in classrooms as a teaching tool for children.

What's In A Name?

Symbolism/Acronyms/Abbreviations And The Like

By Chuck Jackson

The discussion continues of surnames and how symbolism, acronyms, synonyms, abbreviations and the like developed into names. Please keep in mind that some surnames were adopted due to the sound, the secondary meaning, or for other purposes. Also, say the name and listen. The spelling may be a little different but the sound may be the same as the name for which you are searching.

A special note: The suffix -kin or -in means, in Russian, a descendent of the person. Often, the -kin or -in suffix eventually became a -kind or -ind suffix as the Russian meaning became lost over time.

PEIMAN	The name Tzipporah was sometimes shortened to Peie and Peiman means "Peie's husband." Also appears as Peimann.
PERLOW	Means "descended from Perl." Also appears as Perlowsky, Perlin, Perles, Perstein, Perzweig, Persky.
PERVIN	Russian for "first-born." The Hebrew name Becher usually signifies first-born but the Russian authorities preferred Pervin.
PESHKIN	Derived from Peshe or Peshke which were forms for Basyah (Batyah). Bas is a shortened version of Bashe or Basheva. Therefore, Peshkin means the son of Bashe or Basheva. Also appears as Peshkind. Peshkin may also have been derived from Pessel which is derived from the French name Pucelle.
PICK	The Bohemian and Polish word for "bull" is "byk." But, that is not the entire story, as the Biblical Joseph was compared to a young bull and this is the true derivative of the name Pick. It is symbolic of Joseph.
PINES	The Hebrew name Pinhas is often shortened to Pine and Pines means "descended of Pinhas."
PORATH	In "Genesis," Joseph is given the title Porath. Somewhere in the past, a Joseph changed his family name to Porath.
PRIMACK	In the past, it was traditional for a son-in-law to continue studying Torah after marriage while his father-in-law supported the young couple. In Yiddish, this arrangement is called "kest" and in Ukrainian and Belarussian, the person was a Primack.
PRITIKIN	The Russian word for "neighbor."
PROCHOWNIK	From the legendary hero, Abraham Prochownik, who was supposed to have been selected king of Poland in 842. The name means a manufacturer of gun powder. Did Abraham Prochownik make gun powder in 842? Highly unlikely. In German, the name is Pulvermacher which can also mean "apothecary," as in medicinal powders.
PUGATCH	The Ukrainian word for "owl" and refers to someone whose face was round like an owl. It was usually used as a nickname but evolved into a surname.
RASKIN	Raske is the nickname for Rachel and Raskin means a "descendent of Rachel."
RAZUMNY	A name usually given to a person who was clever, sensible, and/or intelligent and is from the Russian word of the same spelling.
REICHELSON	In German-Yiddish, the Hebrew name Rachel becomes Reichel. Add the -son suffix and it becomes the son of Rachel. Also appears as Reich, Reiche, Reichman, Reichstein, Reichenheim, Reichenthal, Reichner, Reichenbaum.
REINES	A descendent of Reine. Reine is either an abbreviation of Katherine or Katherina or is from the French translation of Malkah which means queen.
REITZES	A derivative of Rose. Rose became Reysel which became Reitza which became Reitzes.
RELES	A descendent of Rele. Rele is an affectionate nickname for Rose and for Rebecca.
REMBA	An acronym for R abbi M oshe b en A vraham or is an acronym for the Hebrew "rabot mahshavot belev ish" (many are the thoughts in the heart of man). Also appears as Rembo.
RIVKIND	Rivke is the Yiddish for Rebecca. Add the Russian suffix -in and change it to -ind and we have Rivkind. (See the special note at the top of this column.)

To be continued. Rabbi Kaganoff, Arthur Kurzweil, and Eli N. Evans, many, many thanks.

We think of those lost in Israel and in our own country on September 11th, 2001, because of terrorism. As we approach the High Holy Days, we extend our best wishes to all the families that have endured such suffering, and, as always, we pray for peace in this new year.

Beginning Genealogy Class Offered to Members

A six week course in beginning genealogy, taught by Ilene and Ed Murray, is being offered free to members of the Jewish Genealogical Society of St. Louis in Room 15 at United Hebrew Congregation. The course is also free to those who join in September.

The class will meet on four Monday evenings at United Hebrew beginning on September 23rd. Then, there will be a Monday evening class at St. Louis County Library Headquarters, and a Monday evening at St. Louis Public Library downtown. This will enable all participants to have hands-on experience with the various records discussed in class.

Ilene and Ed are retired University City School District teachers. Both have taught family history classes for many years, to adults and students, and are currently teaching genealogy at Florissant Valley Community College. They have both lectured widely in genealogy and are active volunteers in JGS/St. Louis and the St. Louis Genealogical Society.

Where: Room 15 at United Hebrew
13788 Conway Rd.

When: Six Monday evenings in Sept./Oct.:
Sept. 23, 30
Oct. 7, 14, 21, 28
7 p.m.–9 p.m.

Cost: Free to members

If you are not currently a JGS member, the dues are $20.00 per individual or $35.00 for two people in one household.

Complete the form below to enroll in the course. Registration must be received by September 16th. For further information call Ilene or Ed at (314) 991-3593 or email: <ilenemurray@mindspring.com>.

In order to insure a quality experience for everyone, the class is limited to the first 15 registrants.

IAJGS Announces Annual Achievement Awards

Annually since 1998, the International Association of Jewish Genealogical Societies (IAJGS) has issued achievement awards to recognize outstanding individual and organizational contributions to Jewish Genealogy. Potential awardees are nominated by one or more of the 70+ IAJGS member societies and determined by a committee appointed by the IAJGS Board of Directors. The awards were presented during the banquet held in conjunction with the 22nd IAJGS International Conference on Jewish Genealogy, Toronto, Canada, 8 August 2002. These are the four awards granted this year:

Lifetime Achievement Award

The IAJGS Lifetime Achievement Award is presented to a living individual for outstanding contributions of major significance and benefit to Jewish genealogy. This year's award was made to Stanley Diamond for his efforts in "capturing and sharing the indexing of Jewish records of Poland, which have made these widely accessible for the benefit of all, his creative molding of genealogical and genetic research techniques which has added dimension to the field of Jewish genealogy, and as founder and president of the JGS-Montreal and as a prolific writer and lecturer, he has motivated countless people to research their Jewish ancestry."

Outstanding Contribution Award

The IAJGS Outstanding Contribution Award is presented to a person(s) or organization in recognition of a contribution via the Internet, print, or electronic product. This year's award was made to JewishGen for its Yizkor Book Project. Susan King, president of JewishGen, and Joyce Field, Yizkor Book Project Manager, accepted the award on behalf of JewishGen. Project volunteers have translated portions of over 500 Yizkor books and other documents making these valuable resources available to many more genealogists.

From the Editor's Desk...

As usual, there is just too much to share with you for this issue, and several things had to be held back for October. Just to whet your appetite, next month, we'll have a wonderful article by Sylvia Jaffe on the Toronto IAJGS conference, more interesting websites to tell you about, some terrific news about our cemetery data, and new resources on both the city and county St. Louis Library websites.

As you begin your preparations to celebrate the new year, remember that JewishGen, the number one spot on the Internet for researching Jewish genealogy, <www.jewishgen.org>, needs you. If you haven't made your donation this year, please consider doing it now, so that this outstanding website can continue its work.

Synopsis Of August Program: Bette Gorden, Curator, Mercantile Library By Eunice Solomon

The Mercantile Library was founded in 1846. It was located in downtown St. Louis until a few years ago when it moved to the UMSL campus. It houses 210,000 books on subjects related to Western Expansion, railroads, river transportation, and the history of St. Louis. The cultural aspects of the library are visible in its collection of paintings and sculptures. The collection on American railroad history is one of the largest in the United States. There are passenger lists, documents, and photographs describing railroad travel. The waterways collection focuses on United States river travel by sternwheelers and sidewheelers.

Some of Thomas Hart Benton's lithographs are at Mercantile, along with some Indian artifacts and the first city directory compiled in 1821. The directory is stored in a climate controlled vault with other rare materials. The library has a complete collection of Davey Crockett Almanacs. Agricultural material describes life on the prairies. The clipping and photo files from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat are at Mercantile.

Mercantile is a subscription library. Its members pay annual dues. With the merging of Mercantile and UMSL libraries, all students and faculty of UMSL may use the resources. The library is open seven days a week. A librarian is always available to answer questions and requests by phone.

Outstanding Programming or Project Award

The IAJGS Outstanding Programming or Project Award is presented to a person(s) or organization either in recognition of a single program or project or series of programs or projects. This year's award was made to the JGS of Ottawa, Canada for its Chernivtsi Cemetery Project. A three-person team traveled from Canada to the Ukraine, photographing 55,000 gravestones and copying over 1,800 pages of cemetery registers.

Outstanding Publication Award

The IAJGS Outstanding Publication Award is presented to an IAJGS Member Organization in recognition of an outstanding resource that has been made available to Jewish genealogists that furthers their research. This year's award was made to the JGS of Los Angeles, California for Roots-Key, its quarterly journal. "The quality and scope of its articles demonstrate the highest standards of content and a professional level of presentation and editing. Using a clean and uncluttered format, Roots-Key provides numerous original scholarly research articles in each issue and a wide array of news items on worldwide Jewish genealogical activities and resources."

We congratulate all the recipients of this year's awards.

Open letter from Laura M. Green, Collections Manager Survivors Registry

REGISTRY OF HOLOCAUST SURVIVORS

Help us to Register Holocaust Survivors!

“The Survivors Registry of the United States Holocaust Museum in Washington, D.C. maintains the single most comprehensive listing of Holocaust survivors in the world. The Registry has existed for over a decade, and it currently contains approximately 172,000 names of Jewish survivors and their descendants. The Registry is an invaluable resource for survivors still trying to locate family and friends, as well as for historians and genealogists. It defines as a survivor ‘anyone displaced, persecuted, and/or discriminated against by the racial, political or ethnic policies of the Nazis or their allies from 1933 to 1945 and who survived the end of World War II.’ A Holocaust survivor can be registered even if he or she is no longer living today. It is important to make certain that each survivor's unique experience is recognized and preserved for future generations. Unfortunately, the window of opportunity for survivors to register is rapidly narrowing. If you . . . know of individual survivors who may not be registered, please help us to spread the word! . . . Registry Forms can be downloaded from our web page at: <www.ushmm.org/remembrance/registry>. If you have any questions, please contact Laura via e-mail at <lgreen@ushmm.org>.”

MASSPOCHA, Newsletter of the JGS of Greater Boston, Spring 2002

Food for some very serious thought . . .

Dr. Stuart Kaufman, an authority on ethical standards in the study of genealogy, recently spoke at the JGS of Greater Boston. His discussion centered on the discovery of “family skeletons,” what to do when secrets are unearthed, what to do with the information and what to divulge.

He told the group that we, the genealogists, should be guided by two principles: Shalom bayit

Upcoming TV Show Features Shtetls of Eastern Europe

Make sure you have a fresh tape ready for the VCR so you can tape a special program coming in September that you won't want to miss. It's called “A Yiddish World Remembered,” and it will be broadcast on KETC, Channel 9, on Tuesday evening, 17 September at 8:00. (There's also a repeat broadcast at 1:00 a.m. on 20 September.)

According to the KETC Guide for September, “There were rabbis and yentas, shuls and mikvahs and an overwhelming sense of community. Elliot Gould narrates this look at the shtetls of Eastern Europe, profiling the everyday life of Jews in the late 19th and early 20th centuries.”

This looks like a show we will all want to watch, so spread the word. (And remember, you can thank Channel Nine by becoming a member if you aren't already!)

UH Library Renovation Impacts JGS Library

By Jerry Goldberg

United Hebrew Congregation has started its library renovation with a target completion the first week of September. During this period, the JGS library located within the UH library, is unavailable. The contents of our library were placed in boxes and moved to a storage area within the building. Incidentally, 25 newsletters from various Jewish genealogical societies were added to the JGS Library.

Our computer, also located in the UH library, has been disconnected and placed in storage. Thanks for your patience during the renovation.

Inquiries

The family I am seeking information about arrived in St. Louis from New York about 1907. David & Fannie (SILVERSTONE) SHER, grandparents Samuel & Ida (CURTUN) SHEAR, and father, Raymond SHEAR. The great grandparents lived on O'Fallon St. in 1907. Samuel SHEAR died in 1929. Raymond SHEAR was born in 1922. The family lived on Folsom St, across the street from the Liggett Myers Cigarette Factory and ran a grocery store.

I am attempting to discover to which Shul/Synagogue the families belonged. The older couple is buried at Chevra Kadisha and the grandparents are buried at Chesed Shel Emeth (I assume at Olive and Hanley).

Watch for Major Cemetery Indexing News Next Month . . .

Society volunteer, Patti Labell, has been walking United Hebrew Cemetery and has completed gathering data on approximately 85% of it. Our president, Cassie Buerki, has been working on Chesed Shel Emeth Cemetery (Olive at Hanley).

Joining them are new volunteers: Marsha Cohen, Dick Franzel, Gloria Goldblatt, Cheryl Goldenberg, Marcia King, Sheldon Rudnick, Charlette Rudnick, and Gary Sokolik.

Gene Schneider, our computer advisor, wrote the data entry program the volunteers are using, and he is currently working to get the data onto our website. As always, volunteers are needed to walk cemeteries and to enter the data.
